

Unlocking your futurist mindset: See futures thinking in action

Our plans and hopes for the future are useless unless we have the mindset to approach the volatility and ambiguity of the unknown.

This workshop gives us practical tools and insights to understand our own thinking as well as nurture useful frames of reference for our teams and our clients.

In this three-hour workshop, we will explore:

- The philosophy, psychology and practicality model
- Design and systems thinking
- Causal layered analysis
- Comparative reading and challenging mindsets
